2022 Webster City Market Nights Guidelines

MISSION STATEMENT: The Webster City Market Nights offers locally grown and crafted products in addition to merchandise from locally owned businesses. The purpose of the market is to connect customers directly with the person who sells the products in a fun, casual environment and to provide community wide support of local businesses. The market is open to vendors with home grown and locally made or grown crafts, items, baked goods, produce and more. Market Nights will also be open to retailers in the Webster City Area.

Guidelines:

- Applications to vend at the Market Nights should be completed in advance and returned to: Webster City Area Chamber of Commerce at PO Box 310 Webster City, IA 50595 Applications must be turned in prior to a vendor setting up a table at the market.
- Applicants working with a produce distributor will not be considered.
- One vendor stall measures approximately 10'x10' wide.
- Sales begin promptly at 5:30 p.m. No early bids. Participants should bring enough product to last until the end of the market. Vehicles may not leave the market area until 7:30 p.m., unless there are extenuating circumstances. This is done to ensure the safety and welfare of customers and the other vendors.
- The safety and welfare of our customers and other vendors requires participants to have their vehicle in place by 30 minutes prior to the market opening. Vehicles arriving after that time must wait at the Market entrance for a Market committee member. The Market committee reserves the right to reassign late arrivals to an alternate space.
- Vendors are allowed one vehicle on site. Additional vendor vehicles should park outside of the barricades.
- Craftsmen and artists may sell their own good quality, handmade non-commercial handicrafts and artwork at the market.
- Pricing, tables, chairs, change, bags are to be provided by vendors.
- The vendor must supply his/her own equipment, supplies and materials, such as tables and boards from which to sell their products. All items for sale must be visibly marked for prices. All vendors must supply sacks or other containers for product sales.

- Stall areas must be kept tidy throughout each market and must be left clean at the end of the market day.
- No abusive language, firearms, weapons, outside alcoholic beverages or drugs will be allowed in the market. Anyone disturbing the peace will be asked to leave.

- Vendors are permitted to play music that can be heard within their booths but reasonable volume levels must be maintained.
- Vendors are permitted to use generators not exceeding 70 decibels when in full operation at the discretion of the Market committee. All efforts should be made to place generators away from patrons. Please look for buildings, alleys, or parking slots that will muffle the sound.
- All vendors are expected to follow the Farmers Market Requirements from Inspections & Appeals Food & Consumer Safety Bureau (attached here).

VENDORS SELLING DIRECTLY TO THE PUBLIC MUST DO SO IN ACCORDANCE WITH THE CITY, COUNTY AND STATE REGULATIONS.

FARMERS MARKETS REQUIREMENTS FROM INSPECTIONS AND APPEALS FOOD AND CONSUMER SAFETY BUREAU

In order for licensing requirements contained in this document to be applicable a market must meet the statutory definition of a Farmers Market set forth in 137F.

"Farmers Market" means a marketplace which operates seasonally principally as a common market for fresh fruits and vegetables on a retail basis for the off-the-premises consumption.

The following products may be sold at a farmers market to consumer customers without being licensed as a food establishment at the market location:

1. Fresh fruits and vegetables which are whole and uncut

2. Bakery products which are not potentially hazardous. These products include only the following items: breads, cakes, doughnuts, pastries, buns, rolls, cookies, biscuits, and pies (except meat pies).

The following products are examples of bakery products that are potentially hazardous and cannot be sold at farmers market without a license: soft pies, custard filled products and cream filled products.

3. Fresh Shell Eggs that are kept at 45 F or below (ambient temperature)

4. Honey (products containing honey would have to be individually evaluated)

5. Non-potentially hazardous food products: that is products that do not require refrigeration, since they are shelf- stable. These products can be prepared in the home, to be sold for consumption off-the-premise. Some examples of products that can be prepared in the home for direct sale to consumer customers include: jams, jellies, candies and dried noodles. (Only jams and jellies that meet the Standard of Identity for jams and jellies specified in 21 CFR Part 150 are exempt from licensing)

The following products may not be sold at a farmers market without appropriate licensing from local, state or federal authorities:

1. Potentially hazardous food products (foods that require temperature control), which include meat, poultry, dairy products.

2. With the sole exception of jams and jellies meeting the Standard of Identity for jams and jellies specified in 21 CFR Part 150, no “home style” canned goods can be sold at farmers markets, since food in a hermetically sealed container shall be obtained from a licensed food processing plant. (Section 3-201.12 of the Food Code which has been adopted by Section 137F.2 of the Code of Iowa))

3. Wild Morel Mushrooms

What type of licenses are honored to sell potentially hazardous foods at farmers market?

1. Farmers Market Potentially Hazardous Food License

a. A separate license is required for each county in which a vendor sells food.

b. The license is only valid at farmers markets.

c. If the vendor operates two or more stands simultaneously, a separate license is required for each unit.

2. Mobile Food License

3. Temporary Food License

4. Canned goods, except jams and jellies, must be from a licensed food processing plant. (Only jams and jellies that meet the Standard of Identity for jams and jellies specified in 21 CFR Part 150 are exempt from licensing)

What type of wild mushrooms can be sold at a farmers market and what are the requirements for selling wild mushrooms?

Wild Morel mushrooms ONLY can be sold at a farmers market if all of the following criteria are met;

1. Each Morel mushroom must be inspected and found to be safe by a “certified Morel mushroom identification expert”;
2. The seller of the Morel mushrooms must keep a record for 90 days from the date the mushrooms were purchased following information;
 - a. The name, address and telephone number of the certified Morel mushroom expert;
 - b. A copy of the Morel mushroom identification expert’s certificate of successful completion of the course, containing the date of completion; and
 - c. The quantity of the Morel mushrooms purchased and the date (s) purchased;
3. The seller must obtain a farmers market potentially hazardous food license or a mobile food license;
4. A Consumer Advisory shall inform consumers by brochures, deli case or menu advisories, label statements, table tents, placards, or other effective written means that wild mushrooms should be thoroughly cooked and may cause allergic reactions or other effects.
5. Iowa State University offers the Morel Mushroom Certification course each spring.

Labeling Requirements

All food must be labeled with the common name of the food and the name and address of the person who prepared the food.

Allergen information needs to be declared on the label or by the use of a placard. The following food products are considered major allergens: Peanuts, Soybeans (not refined soybean oil), Milk, Eggs, Fish, Crustacean (crab, lobster or shrimp), Tree Nuts (almonds, pecans or walnuts) & Wheat.

Food that is prepared in licensed food establishments or food processing plants must be labeled at a minimum with the following information:

1. Product name
2. A list of ingredients in order of predominance (by weight). If the product has as standard of identity in the Code of Federal Regulations, it must conform to that standard.
3. Name and address of the manufacturer, packer and distributor. Unless the name given is the actual manufacturer, it must be accompanied by a phrase which states the product is: “manufactured for” or “distributed by”.
4. Net weight or volume
5. Allergen information
6. Nutrition labeling information is required unless exempt. Exemptions may be found on the FDA website.
